ABM MISSIONS PROJECT FOR JANUARY SOLOMON ISLANDS: DISASTER RISK REDUCTION AND CLIMATE CHANGE

This year we aim to demonstrate Backyard Gardening in 5 communities vulnerable to natural disaster and climate change, and to improve drainage at Selwyn College to reduce the impact of flash flooding on the school population. In recent decades the Solomon Islands have seen increased numbers of extreme weather events such as cyclones and major storms causing flash floods. Additionally, sea level rising has led to at least five low lying islands having disappeared, and more are under dire threat. ABM's partner, the Anglican Church of Melanesia (ACOM) places a priority on helping people across the Solomon Islands to be as resilient as possible in the face of these events, particularly in food production, food security and capacity to respond effectively natural disasters. ACOM will work with selected vulnerable coastal communities to demonstrate and train women in doing Backyard Gardening which increases crop yields and thus reduces vulnerability to climate change. Women, identified as 'lead gardeners' in their communities, will be shown how to make raised beds and use salt-resistant crops where appropriate, as well as organic gardening techniques such as composting, mulching and pest management. The women will also receive training in nutrition. These 'lead gardeners' will then train others in their communities. The women receive planting materials and tools after the demonstration.

$12,000 funds improvements to drainage at Selwyn College.

$70 covers the cost for a participant to learn about Backyard Gardening and receive tools and seed needed to create an organic garden for their family.

$500 provides access to clean water for ten school students and their families.

$3,000 covers the cost of one Diocesan Committee to be trained in Disaster Management, including for the community of around 200 people to be trained in awareness of disaster risk reduction.

Thank You! Envelopes are inserted in the Pew Sheet or can be found at the back of the church. Please place your envelope with your details in the plate or at the back of the cathedral so it will become part of our Mission budget.
